

Youth Volunteer Award

Hannah Curtis, London Committee

“Hannah needs no prompting in carrying out her role and is a very proactive committee member with a strong sense of responsibility for someone just starting out in her career”.

Overview

Hannah has been a hugely valued and popular member of the London Board for two years now and has provided exemplary support throughout that time. Needing no prompting, Hannah has exhibited strong leadership ability ensuring committee meetings are set up smoothly, agendas set, and minutes written up accurately and dispatched in a timely fashion. Aside from that Hannah played a key role in the planning and delivery of a highly successful promotional event for London at the Shard late last year. Her diligence, attention to detail and professional, ever-willing support has earned Hannah the rightful admiration of her more mature colleagues as well as her Regional Manager.

Judges' comments

The judges felt that Hannah had clearly demonstrated a special maturity giving her age and gone over and above expectations in fulfilling her role on behalf of Crimestoppers and the London Board. The judges were full of admiration for Hannah's readiness to bring to bear her passion and commitment whatever the challenge involved. Certainly, a very worthy winner indeed.
