We're raising awareness of sexual exploitation in your area.

Brothels and 'pop-up' brothels.

Brothels are often located in serviced apartments, privately rented flats and in hotel rooms or houses. They may 'pop-up' for a short time.

Spot the signs

- Multiple women living at the address, brought to, or taken from, by an individual.
- Frequent visitors, usually males, attending the address at all times of day and night.
- Multiple vehicles parked at the address.
- Different women entering and leaving, often on the same day of the week.
- Windows blacked out and/or CCTV at the address.
- Do the residents know who has rented that property?
- Is the person that is renting the property speaking on behalf of other women?

The victims may:

- Show signs of physical and mental abuse, injuries or poor health.
- Avoid eye contact and be reluctant to speak with neighbours.
- Be unable to come and go from the property unescorted.
- Be unable to communicate freely either due to a language barrier or not being allowed to speak for themselves.
- Be unfamiliar with local surroundings or isolated in the community.

Information for victims:

We want to help women who are often vulnerable and can experience abuse, threats and violence. Any information you pass on will be treated carefully and sensitively. The women at risk will be safeguarded and protected.

Because of Crimestoppers' guarantee of anonymity, we can't take, respond to, or pass on information from victims of crime.
